COOKING & FLAVORING OILS

For cooking I use olive, coconut, avocado, and ghee. The higher the phenol level of olive oil, the higher the smoke point, and that will allow you to use for higher heat applications. I do not recommend frying with it. Macadamia nut oil has a very high smoke point. Macadamia, olive, flaxseed, black seed and pine nut oils are all great for salad dressings or drizzling on roast vegetables. They are all really healthy but have strong flavors so try experimenting with them.

NUTS

Packed with vitamins and minerals, you can integrate them in almost any dish: salads, soups, eggs, oatmeal, yogurt, casseroles, meat rubs. I buy in bulk and look for organic, sprouted, non-fumigated.

- almonds (conventional are often heavily sprayed)
- brazil nuts
- macademia
- pecans
- pili nuts
- pine nuts
- walnuts

NUT BUTTERS

There are so many varieties. I like to spread them on bananas, red pepper, carrots, and celery.

- almond Artisana Raw Nut Butters
- hazel-pili butter Expedition Hazel-Pili Butter
- no-nut butter Sunbutter (no added sugar)
- seed-nut combo Nuttzo 7 Nut and Seed Butter

SEEDS

Sprinkle on everything—yogurt, salad, soup, omelettes, smoothies. Some of the most potent nutrition on earth. You can usually find these cheaper in bulk.

Navitas Hemp Hearts

- sunflower NOW Organic Sunflower Seeds

SNACKY FOODS

When you're feeling munchy and produce just won't do. I prefer grain and gluten free. Processed food is never as good as whole foods, so don't go crazy with these!

- banana chips Bubba's Nana Chips
- cauliflower crackers From the Ground Up cauliflower crackers
- coconut chips Dang Coconut Chips

MORE SNACKY FOODS...

BONUS → All of the below are superfoods, too!

- dried figs
- dried unsulphured apricots
- goji berries
- mulberries
- yellow (golden) raisins

PASTA

I don't eat most American flour, but I also avoid pasta made from soy, rice, or potatoes or other high-glycemic flours. Here are some that are made from black beans, green lentils, chickpeas, Einkorn, and shirataki.

- organic black bean spaghetti Explore Cuisine
- chickpea pasta Explore Cuisine - chickpea pasta, contains rice
- einkorn pasta Jovial Foods Einkorn Pasta
- organic shirataki pasta Liviva Foods
Miracle Noodle

Use sparingly. All grains should be soaked/sprouted to eliminate anti-nutrients.

- germinated brown rice Tru Roots
- oatmeal Bob's Red Mill Steel Cut Oats
- quinoa Tru Roots

CANNED FISH

These are some of the most nutrient dense foods on earth. Eat bones and skin to maximize nutrition. If you have kids, introduce them early on. Makes a great quick meal! These can be canned in water or olive oil.

- Bulletproof Coffee \(all flavors\)
- Bulletproof MCT Oil

TEA

Loose is usually fresher and more potent. I buy in bulk from my co-op. Here is the perfect teapot for using loose leaf tea: PluieSoleil Borosilicate Glass Tea Pot with Tea Strainers for Loose Leaf Tea, Microwavable and Stovetop Safe

PACKAGED LOOSE LEAF TEA

- genmaicha green tea Eden Foods Genmaicha Tea
- turmeric tea Nature's Harvest Turmeric Latte Mix
- youpon tea Lost Pines

PACKAGED LOOSE LEAF COFFEE ALTERNATIVE: I like oil and avocado based dressings and avoid all those made with soybean, canola, sunflower, and other industrial seed oils.

- Dandy Blend \(dandelion, chicory root, beet root, barley and rye\)

CHOCOLATE

Raw chocolate is the healthiest. Eat the darkest you can manage and keep raising the percentage. Milk chocolate has way too much sugar and I'm not a fan of milk powders. White chocolate is not really chocolate. The best brands use no emulsifiers, no soy lecithin, no refined or cane sugar and no dairy.

- AlterEco Deepest Dark Super Blackout 90%
(if you need to start with a lower percentage)
- Eating Evolved, Keto Cups
- Endangered Species Panther 88%
